

practice on basic Python programming concepts including syntax, loops, conditional statements, functions, and data structures, along with practiced Python concepts including operators, functions , arrays, file handling, error handling, modules, JSON, input handling, string form implementing programs related to basic and advanced Python concepts